Abstract

WebAngel is configurable to automatically fetch Internet content "favorites" based on a timer or any other selected condition. Environmental changes also trigger WebAngel to automatically fetch Internet content "favorites" based on a timer event or any environ mental condition. WebAngel is a pre-fetching engine (or user agent) that gathers local environmental parameters, sends them to an "analysis module" which arranges for advance sending of only that data that meets the requirement of the environmental data.